演講題目：After graduation: What ability do you have?

演講摘要：

As a fresh graduate, what ability you think you have except your profession? And what's your future job's manager's expectation to you? Is there any difference between these two things?

From my past experience, most graduating students are lack of some particular abilities. In this speech, I would like to give personal experiences as examples to let everyone knows: As a team manager, what's my expectation to my team members and how I do the performance evaluation.
